The first state to legalize sports betting after PASPA was overturned in 2018, Delaware now boasts a small but successful retail sports betting industry. Gamblers can visit multiple physical locations to place bets on any number of sports contests.

Nor is there any timeline at present for online sports betting to launch. You can only place sports bets at three casinos in Delaware right now.

How old do you have to be to bet on sports in Delaware?

Upcoming news to look forward to includes potential adjustments to the legislation that would make it easier for a healthy online sports betting industry to exist within the state.

How old you have to be to gamble online also differs slightly from nation to nation.

Men are more likely to gamble than women, as common stats revealed that 37% of men and 28% of women in the UK gambled.

That restriction changes to 18 years of age in Alberta, Manitoba, and Quebec. Online gambling is considered legal from the age of 21 years in most of the states in the USA.

♣ Sports betting: 21 years

As such, the main revenue stream online is from horse race betting and sports betting.
